Eskimos On Guard Against Aggression

NOME, Alaska, July 12—(UP)—An Eskimo army of more than 2,000 skilled Arctic hunters was being recruited and trained today to defend the strategic Alaska coastline opposite Siberia.

Eskimo scout battalions of the Alaska National Guard were being established at nearly every sizeable village along the Arctic as far north as Point Barrow, at the top of the North American coast. Eskimos of military age are being issued army uniforms, arms and equipment and trained to act as sentries, search and rescue units and possibly as guerrilla warriors.

Col. Joseph D. Alexander, veteran army officer in charge of organizing the guard, said that units were put on an "alert" basis as rapidly as they were ready for action.

The watch for any possible Arctic invader is maintained 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

Kiwanis Opposes Group Medicine

Will Inform Ohio's Senators Of Action

COLUMBIANA, July 12—Unanimous opposition was expressed by the Columbiana Kiwanis club, at its ladies night meeting in Trinity Lutheran church, Washingtonville, Monday evening, to a bill before Congress that might create socialized medicine. The bill is known as Organization Plan No. 27. Although it was killed in Congress, Monday, Senators Robert A. Taft and John W. Bricker will be informed of the club's action. Dr. Harry Bookwalter brought the matter to the attention of the club.

Besides a moving picture of Liberia, presented by the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., Program Chairman Joseph Magill arranged a program of music, including numbers by a vocal trio, Peggy Harrold and Janet and Janice Magill, accompanied by Linda Fisher, and piano duets and solos.

The ladies' attendance prize, provided by Charles Fisher, went to Mrs. L. D. Bair, and the men's prize, provided by Charles Fuhrman, went to Harold Oaks.

A MOVING PICTURE and a talk on the story of leather were presented at the meeting of the Rotary Club, Monday evening, by Titus Weaver of the Ohio Leather Co. of Girard.

The leather company is observing its 50th anniversary this year. Its specialty is chrome tanning on calf skin, and it is now producing 6,000 skins a day, one-twelfth of the skins available in the U. S. The skins are used chiefly for shoe uppers and ladies' handbags. The plant employs 650 and uses 1,000,000 gallons of water a day.

The new officers of the club were in charge of the meeting, Allen T. White, the new president presiding. District Governor Hiram McGrath, a member of the Columbiana club, gave a talk on the meeting of the international assembly in Chicago last week and outlined the plans for the district assembly in Wooster today, attended by about 20 members of the Columbiana club.

Past Secretary George Seederly gave a report showing that the club had an attendance record of more than 85 per cent for the year, 18 members having a record of 100 per cent. John Crawford has a perfect attendance record for 19 consecutive years. The club has now 67 members, eight new ones having been added during the year.

Visiting Rotarians were President Charles Weitz, of the Bessemer, Pa., club.

FRANK J. FIFE of near Lisbon was honored on his 80th birthday Sunday, with a family gathering at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Regis Boring, 345 North Main st.

Four of Mr. Fife's six children were present, Mrs. William Thomas of East Liverpool, Charles Fife of Lisbon, and Mrs. William Stockman and Mrs. Boring, of Columbiana. A daughter, Mrs. Joseph Hollinger of Pasadena, Calif., formerly of Columbiana, and a son, Harry Fife of Mansfield were unable to be present.

Columbiana Briefs:

Mrs. Pauline Bomberger, who has been living in Cleveland, is spending the remainder of the summer at her old home on South Main st.

4 County Legion Groups Sued By Salem Women

Donna Crawford of Salem has filed a $5,000 damage suit in common pleas court for personal injuries received while a spectator of the American Legion parade in East Liverpool, July 19, 1949.

She charges the Columbiana 40 and 8 Society, American Legion Posts 4 and 374, James C. Lincoln post of the American Legion, all of East Liverpool, and William Faber of Glenmore with negligence in the discharge of fireworks during the parade. She claims that one exploded among the spectators, pieces of it striking the plaintiff on the right shoulder and right hand, causing pain and suffering.

Higher Taxes May Be Imposed, Britons Told

LONDON, July 12—(AP)—Britons, groaning under the world's highest taxes, were told last night they can pay more—and may have to.

The warning was given by the nation's money and taxes boss, Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir Stafford Cripps, in reply to House of Commons suggestions from Conservatives that tax gathering has reached its limit.

Britons now pay 40 per cent of their national income in taxes.

Book Concern Shows Growth

Friends To Get New Quarters At Damascus

MISS ANNA HALDEMAN, executive secretary of the Ohio Friends Book Concern of Damascus, is retiring this month after 25 years of service. She will be succeeded by Miss Freda Girsberger of Sebring, who has been her assistant since last September.

When Miss Haldeman moved the Book Concern's stock into her Damascus home from the Lydia Cope home, two doors east, in July of 1925, it consisted of Bibles, religious books and literature valued at $200.

Under Miss Haldeman's efficient management the business has grown until today the concern's merchandise is worth $8,000. Financial reports at the close of the fiscal year, June 30, showed that last year's sales amounted to nearly $19,000.

HAVING OUTGROWN its present quarters, the Concern will move into its new home, the Ohio Yearly Meeting of Friends Memorial building, located opposite the Yearly meeting grounds in Damascus, which will be completed in the next few weeks. The building will be dedicated during the week of Aug. 22, when the Yearly meeting is in session. The Book Concern will occupy the first floor of this frame building, while the second story will be used for offices of Yearly meeting officials.

Thirty-six by 42 feet, the structure was erected at the cost of more than $20,000. The lot on which the building stands was the gift of Theresa Crew Watson and Clara Crew Jones of Washington, D. C., daughters of the late James H. and Anna Shreve Crew, life members of the Damascus Friends' Church, as a memorial to their parents. The house on this lot was moved to the rear and converted into a two-apartment residence, according to the desire of the donors.

Miss Haldeman, graduate of Damascus Academy and Penn College, Oskaloosa, Ia., taught at McKinley School here at one time. She was in government work in Washington, D. C., before taking her present position.

Miss Girsberger, the new executive secretary, is a native of Beloit and a graduate of the Cleveland Bible Institute. She spent 17½ years in evangelistic work at the Friends' Mission in Luho and Nanking, China. Because of chaotic conditions in the Orient, she has been detained in this country.

INCOME FROM a legacy left the Yearly meeting in 1875 by Henry H. Mosher, a Brooklyn, N. Y., Friend, provided the basic funds for this work.

Conditions of the bequest which amounted to $13,006.79, were that the income from this amount be used for "the purpose of printing and circulating books and tracts inculcating and developing the principles of the Christian religion as preached and promulgated by early Friends."

The gift was accepted at the 1875 sessions of the Yearly Meeting at Mt. Pleasant. Thus the Friends Book and Tract Depository was established at Damascus. In 1931 the name was changed to the Ohio Friends Book Concern.

The concern now does a large mail order business, furnishing Sunday school supplies, etc., to churches in Ohio Yearly meeting, which comprises seven states—Ohio, Iowa, North Carolina, Virginia, Pennsylvania, Michigan and New York, and also to some other denominations.

The Good Teacher

IF EXPERIENCE is a good teacher, Americans should be well prepared to handle some of the problems of existence in wartime.

They have learned—from experience—that public opinion always runs ahead of government decision. Bureaucrats are still fussing over technicalities long after the people themselves have grasped the main principle. In the present instance, the main principle is the existence of a war.

Experience has taught knowledgeable Americans that they must bear up under the weight of a vast burden of official nonsense and hogwash when there is a war. Government is obsessed with the idea that the key to everything is public relations, forgetting that sound performance is the basis of all public relations that amount to anything.

Another lesson which experience has taught Americans is that neither they nor their government ever can be as foolish or incompetent as both parties are inclined to believe. The same muddling-through which Britain is famous for is a specialty of the United States. All the boneheaded moves in a free country are known about and discussed, which gives the impression there are more of them than there are in countries which don't discuss them.

In short, experience has taught Americans that if they are in a nervous tizzy over the recent turn of events, they should know how the few Russians with comparable information feel. They are probably fit to be tied—but in Russia all is serene, on the surface.

Have Mercy!

AN ANGRY BLOW at politicians who use out-of-date photographs of themselves to deceive the public in election contests has been struck by the Daily Oklahoman. "If these arthritic perennials will run for office," snorts the Oklahoman, "they ought to be required to use photographs of themselves that are not more than 38 years old."

It may be doubted that the editors who did all this snorting were aware of the implications. Politicians aren't the only citizens of this publicity-conscious republic who like to put a better face on reality than it actually bears. Even Hollywood, the capital of beauty, is well acquainted with the practice of improving on nature.

As for the rest of us, who never were tapped by a Hollywood scout, there seems to be nothing to do but stick with whatever likeness of our sub-standard features happens to be least like the real thing, yet close enough to be called a reasonable facsimile. It is questionable whether politicians are guiltier of this than others; they merely happen to be in an occupation which requires more frequent use of their facsimiles.

Has the Daily Oklahoman ever had occasion to compare the on-file photographs of its own staff members with the beaten-up and time-stained characters who show up day after day at the office? Even an honest newsman is not above practicing this minor form of self-deception.

Grin And Bear It

IT'S ONLY a minor detail of the Korean skirmish, but the Russian strategists who laid out the battle plans apparently didn't check with the foreign ministry. Their stories don't jibe.

The foreign ministry has been bellowing at the top of its official lungs that North Korea was attacked by South Korea with the connivance and assistance of the United States. Had that been the case, there would have been the necessity of repulsing the attack—of driving out the invader. North Korea, not South Korea, would be the scene of battle.

It was not the case, of course. The North Korean army, backed by the Russians, has had the advantage of launching the attack so far and will continue to have it for some weeks to come. That was the strategy; the Russian militarists who developed the strategy planned it that way. They are not interested in the foreign ministry's propaganda.

There is no pleasant way to rationalize the distasteful news that U.S. forces are sharing the beating being given South Korea. The impetus of the North Korean attack is continuing to carry it forward.

The holdup man with the gun always puts his victim on the defensive. Fortunately, Americans are able to absorb bad news without losing confidence. Remembering Pearl Harbor most of them feel able to grin and bear almost anything.

The answer to over-stuffing on the good things that come from your own garden is the old home groan.

This country needs more people who get behind their work and fewer people who just get behind.

With all the kids playing out in the yard, it won't be lawn now!

Report On The People

By PETER EDSON

Writer Reviews His Midwest Tour

WASHINGTON
A MONTH'S rambling around the farm belt, from Ohio to Iowa and back again by different routes, leaves a variety of conflicting impressions.

Business is booming. Everybody reports, admits and seems to be making more money than he ever did before. That is true even for the farmers, in spite of slight drops in farm prices from record peaks.

Yet there is more crabbiness, by businessmen and farmers. Maybe the crabbiness is a healthy thing. It prevents a runaway boom psychology from taking hold. To be critical is to be cautious. The Korean war is too young for anyone to predict its effect on business.

The crabbiness and the criticism in general take the form of wondering whether this current prosperity is real, whether it will last, or whether it is headed for another inflationary bust.

There is plenty of carping at the Truman program, at high taxes, at government spending, at bureaucracy, at inefficiency and waste. But all this is probably no more violent nor more virulent than it was in 1936, or 1940, or 1944 or 1948.

There is scoffing at union labor for wanting "security." Yet what businessmen seem to fear most is that their present prosperity and security won't last, and aren't real.

It's far too early to try making any guesses at the outcome of this November's Congressional elections. The campaign probably won't really get hot until after Labor Day, when Congress has adjourned and its record is nailed on the wall to shoot at or defend.

REMEMBERING the terrible upset in the 1948 elections, few editors want to go on the record with political predictions. A "non-census" would probably show that Taft, Capehart and Hickenlooper are given the edge for re-election. The Illinois race between Lucas and Dirksen is conceded as close.

But there are no great new trends of political sentiment. Some individuals—some newspaper editors and some partisan political leaders—do believe that there is a big shift of opinion since 1948. But you can walk around the block to the opposition newspaper, or to the opposition political headquarters in another hotel, and you can hear just the opposite. One offsets the other, inconclusively.

Even such political opposites as Republican Sen. William E. Jenner of Indiana, encountered in Indianapolis; and Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson in Springfield, Ill., say they see no new trends.

A rather vigorous political action campaign by the Indiana Manufacturers' Assn. and the Indiana Chamber of Commerce is not general through the Hoosier State and has not spread to other farm belt states.

Political independents criticize the Republicans for their lack of a program and admit the popularity with the mass of voters on many of the promises of the welfare or handout state.

There is widespread feeling that "there must be something wrong in the State Department." This quotation is frequently followed by the statement, "Where there's so much smoke, there must be fire."

There was no great wave of enthusiasm, however, for Wisconsin Sen. Joe McCarthy's crusade. Now, of course, the Korean war has swept McCarthy right out of the news.

THE MARSHALL PLAN and the foreign military assistance programs are not great issues in this eastern farm belt. While much criticism of government spending and deficit financing in periods of prosperity was encountered, nobody advocated cutting down on the $13,000,000,000 national defense spending, which is a third of the budget. That was B. K.—Before Korea. Now, of course, everyone agrees there is need of more defense.

The Brannan plan is not understood. The heads of the farm organizations and Department of Agriculture experts understand it and argue about it learnedly. But the average farmer is for or against it on prejudice or principle, or else he admits frankly that he doesn't know.

Employers encountered made much of the fact that the Taft-Hartley act was a dead issue, and that the rank and file of organized labor didn't really object to it. This held good until various employers in the middle of current labor negotiations were met with. They all reported that union negotiators were very consciously making an issue of their opposition to the Taft-Hartley act.

CIO Political Action Committee and AFL Labor League for Political Education leaders admitted indifference, or at best, spotty success. But where these programs are most active, there the Republican organizations were found to be most alert and most interested in getting out the vote come November.

Me-Firsters

By TRUMAN TWILL

THE HOARDER is back with us and will be followed in due time by the chiseler, the black marketer and the under-the-counter storekeeper, if the Korean skirmish grows up into a war.

These are all common specimens of genus Americanus and familiar to most of us because they crawled out of the woodwork in plague proportions during the country's latest showdown with the same kind of pushers abroad. Both have the same idea—to get what they want without respecting the rights or the common welfare of others. They are people who think the Golden Rule is for suckers only.

This make a nasty situation for the suckers, and there isn't much they can do about it, except to pick up such meager crumbs of comfort as may be found in their own realization that if everybody behaved like the me-firsters there wouldn't be any America to be first in. The only reason, after all, that this isn't a police state is the vital assumption that most Americans will do the right thing because they feel like doing it, not because they are scared of the cops.

The only other source of comfort is the recollection that the me-firsters frequently outwitted themselves during World War II in their heady-eyed pursuit of personal advantages. Some of the flour they hoarded got worms in it. Their stores of sugar turned to rock. They accumulated ill will while chomping their black-market meat. They drank more hoarded coffee than was good for them. And they got stuck with a lot of soap they didn't need.

Some of them even may have had pangs of conscience. Many tipped their hands sufficiently so everybody else in the game knew what to expect from them, which may have proved advantageous in other dealings with them. Some of the quick-buck boys who did their darnedest to louse up things for their own country had the sweaty privilege of explaining their lush loot to the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

That didn't even the score by any means, but it did keep the score from being hopelessly lopsided. All such things, therefore, have direct bearing on the nasty situation taking shape on the flimsy provocation of a shooting war in Korea. The me-firsters are tipping their hand early. And they are calling attention to the experience of World War II concerning distribution of necessities. It proved, among other things, that rules and regulations for the equitable distribution of the things most likely to be hoarded were effectual only against the kind of Americans who wouldn't have needed them in the first place. The rules and regulations were merely a challenge to the me-firsters to prove that they were above and beyond rules and regulations.

The next time, if there is going to be a next time, it would be a good idea to recognize the innate decency of most of the people, then give undivided attention to the greedy capers of those already known to be unalterably opposed to the Golden Rule. The undivided attention, incidentally, would entail something firmer than a slap on the wrist for me-firsters who over-reach themselves.

United States Needs A War Council

By DAVID LAWRENCE

IF THE KOREAN outbreak had been the beginning of a large-scale war, the United States today would be fumbling with the worst kind of confusion in the command setup.

An unworkable plan, never contemplated by Congress when it wrote the so-called "unification" law in 1948, has already brought such a series of obstructions as to delay direct action by the commander-in-chief and to interfere with the actual operation of a war command by the U. S. joint chiefs of staff.

The arrangement which was in effect during World War II, whereby the top men of the three armed services functioned directly in an operational way, has been abolished. Instead the military now is superseded by a layer of civilian committees which cannot but result in inefficiency and delay.

The statute is broad enough to permit of direct operation if the commander-in-chief wishes it. Failure to let all components of the military establishment have direct access to the executive authority possessed by the President is partly responsible for the tragic delays that have already occurred in Korea and which are to no small extent accountable for the inability of the Far Eastern forces to deal more effectively with the North Korean invasion.

During World War II there was nobody between President Roosevelt, as commander-in-chief, and the U. S. joint chiefs of staff. The latter organization operated the war command and sent its orders to General Eisenhower in Europe or Admiral Nimitz in the central Pacific or General MacArthur in the Southwest Pacific. Mr. Roosevelt had a chief of staff, Admiral Leahy, who sat with the joint chiefs of staff. The secretary of the navy and the secretary of war did not have any authority over operations or sit in on the planning of military operations.

TODAY'S SETUP, which was intended primarily for peacetime, places the secretary of defense, a civilian, between the President and the joint chiefs. This doesn't mean Mr. Johnson himself but the various assistant secretaries and committees of the Defense Department who speak in his name and through whom the joint chiefs must go before they can function on matters which are vital to military planning.

The idea that, because General Omar Bradley attends presidential conferences, the military is represented is a fallacious one. The general has no operational or staff responsibilities directly related to any of the three armed services nor is he familiar with operations as such. He is not the boss of the U. S. chiefs of staff. By law, he is specifically deprived of a vote in its deliberations. He is in a sense a secretary or coordinator for the joint chiefs when they meet as a body, but he cannot exercise any operational responsibilities.

To put General Bradley between the joint chiefs and the President is to deprive the commander-in-chief of the opportunity to get his military advice firsthand instead of secondhand. What the President should have is a war council, consisting of the heads of the three armed services and also of the commander of the ground forces of the army and the commander of the Marine corps. The problems of the latter two chiefs are so important that they should sit in whenever strategy is considered.

IT SO HAPPENS that, although the Korean invasion occurred on June 25, the U. S. Marine Corps' readiness with its mobile force to play a vital part in the Far Eastern operation was taken up on June 28 by the chief of naval operations. The matter then was tabled. The Marines are sailing for the Far East now only because General MacArthur on July 3 sent a hurry-up request for them.

This shows that in Washington there was a sort of indifference to or neglect of the Marine Corps. The Marines have always been ready to sail on three days' notice. The division which is being sent to Korea, after a serious delay of two weeks, is the best-equipped force of troops of all the American ground forces. It goes combat-loaded. It can stop off the ship and fight no matter where it is landed.

Representative Carl Vinson of Georgia, Democrat, chairman of the house armed services committee, has introduced legislation to make the commandant of the Marine Corps a member of the joint chiefs of staff because amphibious warfare is a specialty like strategic bombing, which already has a representative on the staff. But the ground forces also should be represented by their commander, who can then speak up for tactical aviation without fear of offending the strategic-bombing spokesman when seeking the right kind of air support for ground troops.

But the President need not wait for legislation. He can make up his own war council by a stroke of the pen. This is very much needed. If a big war breaks out, the presence of such a council will mean an avoidance of costly delays.

The War?

By HAL BOYLE

Let's Talk About Something Else

NEW YORK

IT WAS NICE that no newly-returned American widow from the Far East was there. You know some of them are back home already with their kids—young girls who kissed a husband goodbye in Japan, and heard a few days later he was dead in his country's service in Korea.

And quickly the widows and their fatherless children came shuffling here by air.

But, of course, they weren't going to have. Not numbers and dazed and with duties to fulfill, not with sudden widowhood to comprehend. Not bars.

However, should some widow, alone and more "operable" than she knew, have wandered into a typical small Manhattan bar—and had she listened to what she heard... it might have made her more desolate than before.

SHE MIGHT, for example, have heard this: "Well, thank God, the last battalion got through!" exclaimed the tall young man. "What do you mean—the last battalion?" asked the older girl next to him.

"The last battalion—the last battalion in Korea!" said the tall young man. "Don't you know we've had a last battalion out off days by the North Koreans?"

"No," said the girl. "I been tied up worrying about baseball." "That's what I been trying to tell people," complained the tall young man. "We got a battalion lost in Korea, and nobody thinks anything about it. It's probably the first battalion we put into battle, and it gets lost, and nobody even wants to talk about it at all. When we had a last battalion in the first world war everybody got excited over it. Didn't you ever read about the last battalion?"

"Oh, you mean the last battalion?" said the girl trying either to figure out what it was or wondering whether it would date her too much if she said she remembered it. A bystander, however, would get the impression she wasn't sure of the difference between a battalion and a medalion.

"That's what I been trying to tell you," insisted the young man. "We lost a battalion in Korea and it fought its way back. Nobody here even seems to care about it."

ALTHOUGH HE HAD a loud voice and the room was crowded with young men—and he looked around at the other young men—none said anything.

"Well, it's nice they're all back," hedged the girl.

"I didn't say they all got back," cried the young man. "I just said the last battalion got back. I don't know how many of them did or didn't. But they couldn't all have made it."

"Well, really . . ."

"What is the use?" said the tall young man, bitterly. "What is the use? I shouldn't have brought it up."

A little later, after they had left, the bartender, a veteran of the last world war, said: "You know, last week it really was pretty tight in the National League—Philadelphia, St. Louis, Boston and Brooklyn all scrambling for the top. But things have pretty much quieted down now. And it seems to me people are talking more about Korea. They're a lot more interested."

As I say, it was nice that no freshly-arrived widow had dropped in all alone before going on somewhere to meet her parents. She was kind. She might have wondered if she were really in her homeland.

Take Wraps Off Ships, Planes

Mothballed Fleets Put Into Service

WASHINGTON, July 12—(AP)—The United States has begun drawing on its mothballed fleets of planes and ships for use in the Korean conflict.

The Navy has started taking the wraps off two escort carriers to be used for ferrying planes and other cargo. Plans are under study for bringing several other ships back into service for the same purpose, reporters were told last night.

In Tucson, Ariz., an air force officer said cocooned B-29 superfortresses are to be taken out of storage for modification.

The military sea transportation service announced it has chartered 16 cargo ships to get men and supplies to Korea. Officials also announced that airlines have been asked to make available all the four-engine transports they can without interrupting their schedules.

There was no immediate identification of the name or locations of the ships the Navy is calling back to service, nor the number of B-29s being readied for modification.

Gordon Dean Given Atomic Energy Post

WASHINGTON, July 12—(AP)—Senators expressed general satisfaction today with President Truman's selection of Gordon Dean, 44-year-old California attorney, as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission.

The White House announced the appointment yesterday. The post of permanent AEC chairman has been vacant since February 15, when David E. Lilienthal resigned.

Senate action on the appointment of Dean is not required. Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), ranking Republican member of the senate-house atomic energy committee, coupled his approval of Dean with the observation that Mr. Truman's delay in naming a chairman was inexcusable.

He also said Truman should move quickly to name a fifth member to the commission and bring it up to its full strength. A vacancy has existed since the resignation of Lewis L. Strauss last April 15, and a five-year term remains unfilled.

4-Month-Old Girl Killed

LANCASTER, July 12—(AP)—Four-months-old Deborah Ann Crook was killed last night and her parents were injured critically when their car crashed into a tree off U. S. Route 33, four miles south of Lancaster. The mother, Barbara, 20, suffered fractures of both legs. The father, William, 21, had a fractured right leg, severe lacerations and bruises.

Farmer Electrocutured

GREENVILLE, O., July 12—(AP)—The body of Lloyd C. Rismiller, 33, apparently electrocuted, was found on a road near his farm here yesterday. Coroner A. F. Sarver said Rismiller apparently took hold of a dangling guy wire which was in contact with a 7,200-volt high tension wire.

Mahoning Express Co. Named In $38,000 Suit

CLEVELAND, July 12—(AP)—The Mahoning Express Co. of Youngstown was named in a $38,000 damage suit in Federal Court yesterday by a Pittsburgh man.

Owen Sheldon contended he was injured last May 29 near Ravenna in a collision involving his car and a truck owned by the express company.

He said he suffered loss of vision, brain concussion and other injuries. He also said the shock aggravated diabetic and arthritic conditions.

110-Year-Old Building Destroyed

CLEVELAND, July 12—(AP)—Fire destroyed a 110-year-old building in the center of Cleveland's business district early today but firemen stopped the flames from spreading to adjacent structures.

The four-story structure was vacant except for the ground floor, which was occupied by the World News Shop, a cigar and magazine store. The fire, discovered at 2:29 a. m., threatened to envelop a next door building, occupied by the Richman Brothers clothing store.

The damage there, however, was mainly caused by water and smoke and was estimated at $1,000. Fire Chief Elmer Cain fixed the burned building loss at $75,000.

22-Month-Old Boy Killed By Shotgun

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., July 12—(AP)—A 22-month-old Cleveland boy died at St. Mary's Hospital early today of wounds received Tuesday when a shotgun was accidentally discharged during a play session in his grandmother's garage.

David Mansour and his eight-year-old sister, Leona Withers, also of Cleveland, were taken to the hospital in critical condition yesterday evening.

David and Leona were standing in the garage when a seven-year-old playmate, James North, started climbing down a ladder with an old .410 shotgun he had found on a garage shelf.

Police said the gun accidentally discharged after a step in the ladder broke, wounding both children in the chest and abdomen.

The children of Mrs. Iris Farmer Mansour of Cleveland have been visiting their grandmother, Mrs. Ina Farmer, here.

MIAMI, Fla., July 12—(AP)—Six thousand Elks made a frontal assault against downtown Miami last night and nearly 100,000 parade-loving Miami's cheerfully surrendered to the gaudy invasion.

For two hours Biscayne boulevard and flag-draped Flagler st was a giant serpentine of garishly-costumed band units, drill teams and brilliantly lighted floats winding steadily between whistling and shouting spectators, lined five and ten deep on the sidewalks.

Headed by Miami's famed motorcycle police drill squad—which performed for President Truman's inauguration ceremonies—the 10 bands, 20 floats and units representing every state in the nation took two hours to pass the reviewing stand.

Ohio Population Up 14.3 Per Cent

Southeastern Section Of State Shows Loss

COLUMBUS, July 12—(INS)—Ohio's 1950 population is placed tentatively at 7,901,791.

The figure was given to Gov. Lausche by Edwin P. Slaybaugh of Detroit, census supervisor for Ohio and Michigan.

Slaybaugh said the 14.3 per cent increase from the 1940 total of 5,907,612 "will measure right up with the best of them" when final figures are announced about Dec. 1.

Although the state gained nearly a million residents, Lausche expressed concern over the fact that 16 of the 18 counties to report losses were in the economically poor southeastern section of the state. The other two were Henry and Qualding in northwestern Ohio.

Lausche blamed "butchery of the timber land" and stripping of the top soil for coal" for the decrease in the section of the state which would be enclosed by a

Wartime Controls Depend On Russia

WASHINGTON, July 12—(AP)—An administration decision on whether it should ask for temporary power to control such things as materials, manpower, wages, etc., hinges on a question even bigger than how long the Korean fight will last.

The question the decision makers are pondering, it can be said on top authority today, is—what are Russia's intentions?

And at this point, it can be said on equal authority, the decision makers feel the answer is too uncertain to enable them to reach a conclusion on the problem of controls.

On the other hand, they feel that if developments require use of some controls, the best course is to seek broad control powers in advance of actual need—then use them as sparingly as possible.

TWO CARS COLLIDE

Cars driven by John Gilson of 157 W. Fifth st and Emery Barnes of Berlin Center collided at noon Tuesday on N. Lincoln ave. Police said the mishap occurred when the Gilson car pulled away from the curb in front of the high school and caught on the right rear fender of the Barnes auto. Slight damage was caused both vehicles.

How Hudson's exclusive recessed floor brings you America's Roomiest Car!

HUDSON
Recessed floor ("step-down" design) brings the space between frame members, which is wasted in other cars, into Hudson's passenger compartment. This results in America's lowest center of gravity (and full road clearance), while providing more head room and seating room than any other car.

OTHER CARS
Floor is on top of the frame, so the vital space between frame members is not available for passenger use. The result is a higher center of gravity and either a high roof line or insufficient head room. Seats are narrower; passenger space is reduced.

Wear a wonderful difference Hudson's exclusive recessed floor makes! Among other advantages, it provides more room than any other car!

Hudson seat cushions sit up to 12 inches wider than those in cars of greater outside dimensions. You'll find the most head room in any automobile. Even door and window controls are recessed for more elbow room!

Won't you accept our invitation to see Hudson—to discover how this new way to build automobiles makes a greater share of over-all size available for passenger room and comfort than is possible in any other car.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

OPINION—GOSSIP—NOTES—

Daily Dozen

By BOB DIXON

- The suspense for Cleveland Indians fans may not last too much longer.
- The Tribe's 1950 success would seem to hinge on their ability to win a pile of games during their upcoming Eastern trip.
- One game over the halfway mark on the season, Cleveland has won 46 ball games, losing 32, for a .590 percentage. It won't be good enough to win the flag.
- Back in 1948 (remember?) when the Tribe was hot, they won 96 games to finish in a tie with the Red Sox. Last year the Yanks won it all with 97 triumphs.
- Boudreau's charges have to win 50 of their remaining 76 tilts to equal their '48 production. That's a .656 clip and even it won't guarantee the pennant.
- Detroit's Tigers, who have played 75 games, have 49 wins. They'll have to cop only 47 of their last 79 games to get 96 in the win column. That's the only .594 average, about the same speed the Indians played during '1951."

the first half.

- The Yanks will be required to take 49 of their next 77 games. They are playing at a .610 pace.
- The current eastern trip should tell the tale for Cleveland. If they fail to win in New York and Boston the party will be about over.
- They face a frightening schedule of seven games in five days in those two cities. Four games in Boston will be played in two days.
- This will be Cleveland's third eastern junket and they've looked unimpressive on the Atlantic seaboard so far this year. The last time out they took their lumps in Boston and Washington.
- The Indians are infamous for their disastrous eastern road trips. They can count the only really successful trips east over the last 20 years on their fingers.
- This time they've got to win better than two out of every three. Only a collapse by Detroit on their trip could help matters if Cleveland bogs down. Otherwise the balance of the season may be spent in "building for 1951."

Dots And Jots

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

AFTER experimenting a couple of years with the March 1 starting date for the spring training, the major league club owners decided nobody liked it. . . . The ball players, who had objected to working for nothing, found even that was better than staying at home and paying their own expenses. . . . Thirty of the players selected for today's All-Star game are products of American Legion junior baseball. . . . That's a pretty fair return for a $50,000 a year investment. . . . Harvey Hester, who tried to introduce pro football to Miami, is playing the role of an inn keeper in a movie being filmed in Atlanta. As owner of the Seahawks, Harvey's trouble was that he couldn't keep inn out of the rain on game nights.

Weiss On Carpet

By HARRY GRAYSON

GEORGE M. WEISS is still being mildly criticized in New York for deals he engineered for the Yankees. General Manager Weiss contends he gave nothing away when he shipped second baseman Snuffy Stirrweiss, outfielder Jim Delsing and the young right-hand pitcher, Duane Pillette, Don Johnson and Cuddles Marshall, and $50,000 to the Browns for southpaw Joe Ostrowski and Tom Ferrick. Trader Weiss might add that he got nothing in particular, either, although the 35-year-old Ferrick can relieve appreciably with five days rest. They expected a pitcher like Ned Garver or Cliff Fanning. If the Yankees passed nothing along in the deal that just beat the deadline, more than one of their noted scouts were fooled. The Yankees are just a normal club in being shy a starting pitcher, and their pitching case is further weakened by Joe Page's failure to quench the fire as he did in 1947-49. "Whatever became of the Yankee farm system?" they asked. It's still there, but there's competition now. It used to be that nearly every youngster aspired to be a Yankee. But in these $100,000-or-nothing days the talent is spread around. Getting back to George Weiss, he is likely to kick one here and there like everybody else. There is nothing wrong with Trader Weiss and the Yankees that a few capable ballplayers wouldn't cure. With the bulk of the hand-picked material no longer flowing their way, the proud Yankees are now finding out what the others have known all along. A good man is hard to find, especially when he is a ballplayer. (NEA Service)

Schoendienst "Called" His Home Run Blast

Long Hit Ends 14-Inning Fight

Termed 'Greatest' Of 17 All-Star Tilts

By JOE REICHLER

CHICAGO, July 12—(AP)—Red Schoendienst . . . Andy Pafko . . . Larry Jansen . . . Ewell Blackwell . . . These are the names on everybody's lips following yesterday's National League stimulating 14-inning 4-3 victory over the favored American League's "in the greatest of all 17 All-Star games."

Maybe you'd better add Manager Burt Shotton, Enos Slaughter and Ralph Kiner. For they, too, sparkled as the victory-starved Nationals won for the first time since 1944.

Schoendienst was the big hero, of course. It was his home run into the upper deck of the left field stands in the top of the 14th that broke up the three hour and 19 minute overtime struggle—the first extra inning affair in all-star competition.

Schoendienst, like the immortal Babe Ruth, called his shot. "I'm going to end this thing right now," he told teammates Walker Cooper and batting practice pitcher Murry Dickson as he selected a bat. "Watch me hit one into the upper seats."

THE SCRAWNY-LOOKING 160-pounder from St. Louis has hit only three home runs all season in 73 games. In 1946 he went through the entire season without hitting any home runs.

Schoendienst, a personal Shotton pick because of his defensive wizardry and his ability to fill in at either second, third or short, was batting righthanded against southpaw Ted Gray of Detroit. He is a switch hitter. It was his only time at bat during the game.

Pafko saved the game in the bottom half of the 12th with a sensational catch of pinch hitter Tommy Henrich's terrific clout that appeared labeled "home run" the instant the ball left the bat. Jansen pitched near-perfect ball in a five-inning tenure, the longest National League stint by one pitcher since Lon Warneke hurled four innings in 1934. He allowed only one hit—a handle-hit single—and struck out six in shutting out the American League's from the seventh through the 11th innings.

Blackwell came close to matching Jansen's performance, holding the American League's to a lone hit in three shutout innings. The long, lean Cincinnati right-hander sent the near-capacity Comiskey Park crowd of 46,127 home limp from exhaustion when he wound up things by forcing the great Joe DiMaggio to slap into a game-ending double play.

NEARLY ALL 19 of the 25 National League players who appeared in the lineup covered themselves with glory. There was the brilliant catch by Slaughter of Walt Dropo's second inning clout that appeared headed over the center field wall. There was Ralph Kiner's titanic home run that tied up the game in the ninth inning. Slaughter also shone on offense. It was his triple in the second inning that set up both runs. Jackie Robinson, who led off the inning with a single to right, crossed the plate on Slaughter's clout to the center field wall. Slaughter came in with the second run when Hank Sauer fled to right.

It's impossible to overlook Shotton, the much abused pilot. Boomed unmercifully at his pragmatic introductions for his intended benching of Sauer in favor of his own Duke Snider, Shotton redeemed himself in the eyes of the fans with his strategic moves.

Burt's 11th hour centerfield switch from Sauer to Slaughter paid off in the second inning when Enos made his glittering catch. His move of Slaughter to right and Pafko to center in the middle of the game set the stage for Andy's game-saving grab.

Criticized for placing Kiner second in the batting order, Burt proved he was right when Ralph blasted his ninth inning homer. Had the Pittsburgh slugger been in sixth spot as Shotton had him in the original lineup, Ralph probably never would have gotten another chance to hit. The day's receipts of $128,179.51 was a new record. After expenses are deducted, the cash goes to the players' pension fund.

Homeworth Wins Girls Softball Tilt Here

The Homeworth girls defeated the Salem Amvets 5-1 Tuesday night at the Chisholm field in a girls league game. The Amvets got eight hits to Homeworth's five, but couldn't make with the runs. Wayne, Homeworth hurler, fanned seven batters. Tonight's game features the Salem Red Caps and Leetoria.

Lineup Deadline Will Close Saturday

No additions or changes in Class AA or A team rosters may be made after the deadline at midnight Saturday, Joe Kelley, league manager, announced today. All trades must be completed by that time, he said. Third round play in both leagues will begin Thursday night and team rosters will remain unchanged through the end of the season.

Shaky A's Are Setting New Double Play Mark

PHILADELPHIA, July 12—(INS)—Believe it or not, Connie Mack's cellar-sharing, injury-plagued, adhesive-taped Athletics today are limping toward a major league baseball record.

The not-so-amazing A's, who have constantly shuffled and reshuffled their infield, are well on the way toward breaking their own double-play record set last year.

The piecemeal infield is aiming to break the record 217 twin-kills which a less incapacitated Athletics' team established in 1949.

In their first 76 games, the A's reeled off 106 double-plays to lead all major league clubs in this department.

Chalking up an average of slightly less than one-and-one-half per game, the shallow fielders of Mr. Baseball are virtually certain of smashing the present record before the season dies.

Assuming fate will treat the A's better in the second half of the season, the infield seems a sure bet to rack up some 220 double-plays.

ROLLER SKATING QUEEN

DENVER, July 12—A young Ohio skater, who had to borrow a costume to at the last minute, today reigned as "Queen of America's Roller Skaters" as championship competition started. Miss Janet Lund of Youngstown was given the queen rating last night, winning over several other skaters here for the 1950 amateur roller skating championships.

MARK STILL STANDS

Ten years ago, husky Raymond Bryan of Belleville, N. J., completed a record-busting cross-country bicycle ride, pedalling the 3,149.8 miles from New York City to San Francisco in 27 days, 11 hours, an average of almost 115 miles a day. Bryan arrived at San Francisco's city hall on May 24, 1940. The east-west mark remains unchallenged on the books of the Amateur Bicycle League of America.

V. F. W., Amvets Win In Class AA

Saxons, Butler Take Class A League Tilts

None of the leaders in either city softball league was involved in play Tuesday night as the second round of play closed.

The Amvets moved into third place, a half game ahead of Demings, on their 10-0 rout of the Saxons. The five inning fray was highlighted by John Zines' one hit hurling for the winners. Zines, Woods and Scullion each rapped two hits for the Amvets.

The V.F.W. shut out the Electric Furnace 3-0 as both teams collected six base hits. Johnny McQuiston was the winning pitcher, as the vets gained their fourth victory.

Another one hitter, pitched by Al Linder, paced the Saxons to a 5-1 triumph over Fisher News. For the second place Saxons, it was their ninth win. Mike Linder slapped out three safeties.

Butler Grange carded a 9-1 victory over the Men About Town, the last place Class A team. Woods, Vogelhuber and Hardgrove each had two base hits to lead the winners.

BUMGARDNER SIGNS

CLEVELAND, July 12—(INS)—Paul Brown, coach of the Cleveland Browns football team, announced today the signing of Rex Bumgardner, former Buffalo Bills halfback.

Bumgardner was acquired by the Browns in a ruling by Commissioner Bert Bell of the National League.

Before entering the pro ranks, Bumgardner played at the University of Virginia, while with the Bills he was considered one of their most consistent ground gainers, picking up 391 yards in 161 carries in the last two years.

Williams, Costner Postpone Bout Again

PHILADELPHIA, July 12—(AP)—Rained out two nights in succession, lightweight champion Ike Williams and George (Sugar) Costner will try again tonight to get in their scheduled 10-round non-title scrap at Shibe park.

But before fight time, Costner may battle with the scales.

According to contract terms, Costner agreed to come in at 140 pounds or lower. He weighed 140 Monday but is believed to be considerably above that figure now. He'll have to dry out early today to take off excess poundage. Weight was of little concern to Williams. He was 143 on Monday, an all-time high for him.

Should it rain tonight, Fubumbe said the card would be rescheduled sometime in September.

One of the cancelled allegations of a good date cannot be obtained.

Shotton Takes Boos At Comiskey Park

CHICAGO, July 12 — (AP)—The little, old man in grey slacks, white shirt and polka-dot tie stepped out of the dugout.

Lusty boos from some 46,000 fans thundered out of the Comiskey Park grandstand.

The little man just stood there. Suddenly, he took off his blue Dodger baseball cap and held it in his hand.

The boos continued. But Burt Shotton, 65-year-old manager of the National League All Stars, broke into a wide smile.

He beamed for three minutes, just standing there, as if waiting for his picture to be snapped. Then came a rippling of applause.

Shotton, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, replaced his cap, stepped jauntily back into the dugout and directed the senior league's All Stars to a sparkling 14-inning 4-3 win over the American League All Stars.

Never in the history of the midsummer classic had there been such adverse reaction from fans when a manager was introduced in pre-game ceremonies.

The boos came from the Chicago crowd because several days previously Shotton had tried to replace outfielder Hank Sauer of the Chicago Cubs and the fans' starting choice in the country wide poll, with his own Brooklyn player, Duke Snider.

Shotton topped his actions with a neat gesture in the fifth inning.

He yanked Sauer and sent in the Cubs' Andy Pafko. He did this in face of his aim to start Snider, who eventually was inserted as a pinch hitter in the 12th.

Veteran observers agreed the 17th All Star game, the first one to be carried into extra innings, was the greatest ever played in the series. It had a pleasing combination of excellent pitching, thrilling hits (when they came) and sensational, circus catches in the outfield.

Asleep On R. R. Tracks, Two Men Run Over
EAST LIVERPOOL, July 12.—Tuesday when struck by freight cars while sleeping on the Pennsylvania railroad tracks in near-by Chester, W. Va., Charles Hicks 65 (no address) received a compound fracture of the lower right leg.
Oscar McCune 56 of East Liverpool received multiple lacerations of the head and a mangled right hand.

Legion Wins 5-2 Over Steubenville

A well-played, well-pitched ball game was won by the Salem Junior Legion Tuesday night at Centennial Park, as they took their second straight game from Steubenville, 5-2.

The victory gave them a first round triumph in district play, eliminating Steubenville. They now face the winner of the Minerva-Cadiz series, which is to be played tonight.

Bob Coy hurled a snappy four-hitter for Salem. He looked particularly effective in the third inning when he retired the side without a run after a hit, error and fielder's choice loaded the bases with none out. A force play at home was followed by two strikeouts.

Baird and Birkhimer each had two hits for Salem, Baird rapping a long home run for one of his.

Tonight Salem plays in the Tri-State tournament at East Palestine, opposing either Girard or New Castle at 6.

DISCARDED "CAKE"

Medieval bakers had no baking tins. To prevent bread from scorching, they spread a coarse dough over the floor of the oven and placed the white dough upon this. The coarse dough was similar to our brown bread, but they called it cake and discarded it after the white bread was done.

Byrnes Winner In S. Carolina

Sen. Johnston Gets Senate Seat Back

COLUMBIA, S. C., July 12—(AP)—James F. Byrnes will be the next governor of South Carolina, and Sen. Olin D. Johnston will go back to the U. S. senate.

South Carolina Democrats decided that Tuesday. In this state the nomination is equal to election.

The 71-year-old Byrnes, former secretary of state and Supreme Court justice, easily triumphed over three opponents.

With primary returns in from most of the state's 1,572 precincts, the former "assistant president" rolled up 206,416 votes. Lester L. Bates, Columbia insurance executive, had 61,941; Thomas H. Pope, speaker of the South Carolina house, had 25,080; and Marcus A. Stone, Dillon lumberman, 4,889.

Byrnes thus had an overwhelming majority, eliminating the necessity of a runoff July 25. Johnston defeated Gov. J. Strom Thurmond, 1948 states rights Democratic presidential candidate.

Nearly complete returns gave Johnston 159,026, and Thurmond 142,052.

Johnston, 53, had declared his loyalty to the national Democratic party against Thurmond's charges the senator "ran out" on the state Democratic party. The senator said differences should be settled within the party, although he opposed President Truman's renomination two years ago. The state party supported Thurmond for president in 1940.

Southeastern Ohio Drops In Population

Of the 18 Ohio Counties which reported drops in their populations during the last 10 years, 16 are in the economically poor southeastern section of the state.

They place most of the blame on strip-mining activities and loss of industry.

Some strip-mining activity is present in Columbiana County but it apparently did not affect the population. Census figures revealed the county gained from 90,121 to 98,083 residents in the 1940-50 period. The percentage increase totalled 8.8 percent. Salem's population gained 382, up to 12,683.

Hot, Dry Weather Appears For Ohio

Hot days are here again. "Ohio is in for a period of hot, predominately dry weather for the next 40 hours," Weather Forecaster C. George Andrus said today.

"Based on the general outlook, the dry conditions should stay for some time. The weather will not be so hot, but rather dry," Andrus added.

In many localities the harvesting of wheat was a week to ten days later than normal. The weather was ideal for haying. Potatoes, soy beans and corn are doing well.

Passion plays are presented at Oberammergau, Germany; Tegelen, Holland; Spearfish, So. Dak., and Lawton, Okla., among other places.

A CONSCIENTIOUS OBJECTOR of the last World War, James Peck, 36, is forcibly ejected from the United Nations Security Council at Lake Success, New York. He delayed start of the Council session by distributing leaflets urging mediation of the war in Korea.

Weary GI's

alike—are in North Koreans hands or territory.

The battle began two days ago when the unit pushed off to attack the Reds who were battering another American outfit. The unit moved up and dug in.

"We stayed there until midnight," said Lt. Edward James of Columbus, Ga. "Then we withdrew to our original positions with the idea of fooling them."

But the alert Reds who had been mortaring the unit's position had a trick, too. While their mortars hammered the Americans, Red infantrymen sneaked into the American line. When the GI's returned to their original position they had to fight Communists in the dark for their own foxholes.

Fog shrouded everything but the flashes of their automatic weapons as the Reds swept in.

"Everytime you would kill one, about 20 would come up to take his place," said Pvt. Freddy Pickens of Columbus, Miss.

Screaming and shouting but nevertheless attacking with discipline, the Reds rode into the American positions. "My machine gun was knocked out," related Pvt. Robert Reed of Michigan City, Ind. "A mortar dropping on my position got my assistant, my medic and two riflemen. I got a carbine. That was shot right of my hands. I got an M-1 rifle. I was moving down a creek when the M-1 was shot out of my hands, too."

Overwhelmed by hordes of Communist soldiers, the Americans retreated. Some GI's estimated an entire regiment attacked them.

Steel Allocations Plan Is Predicted

NEW YORK, July 12—(AP)—The Iron Age, metalworking trade weekly, said today "a new voluntary allocations plan for the steel industry is likely in the very near future."

The Commerce Department, the publication said, "is preparing to form an iron and steel industry advisory committee—possibly this week."

It added the group would "work closely with government officials to insure speedy action on military orders and fair distribution of tonnages available for non-military uses."

The action was described as part of plans under way "to back the United Nations" fight in Korea with the biggest steel potential in the history of the world. "War goods includes a great deal more than guns, tanks, planes and ammunition," the Iron Age said. "Orders for freight cars, trucks and trailers, pipelines, lockers and many other items will also be turned out ahead of civilian goods."
